

The Consequences of EU Politicisation for Electoral Behaviour

Panel Chair: Marina Costa Lobo, Universidade de Lisboa Instituto de Ciências Sociais, marina.costalobo@ics.ul.pt

Abstract:

For this Panel I am currently looking for papers which deal with the way in which Europe as a topic, or as successive European crises (Eurozone crisis, Refugee crisis) are influencing voting behaviour across European democracies. Considered more broadly, this panel seeks also seeks papers on the consequences of the EU politicisation for political attitudes. As a result, papers which deal more with the EU politicisation side of the equation, and how that may influence attitudes, are as welcome as those who actually focus on the way in which "Europe" has entered the domestic vote calculus.

To submit a proposal, you will need to create a MyECPR account and submit the following information by 16 February:

- Your name, academic affiliation and email address
- The title of your paper
- An abstract of up to 500 words.
- 3 to 8 keywords
